

Biography

Sahar SHOKOUHITABRIZI was born on the 22th of September 1981 in Tabriz, IRAN. She graduated in 2004 from the Software Engineering at IRAN Azad University and started working as a software engineer in Farazab Consulting Company. In 2014, she completed master degree in the Department of Information System Engineering from Near East University. Currently, she is working as a full time lecturer at Near East University in Computer Information Systems Department. Furthermore, she is a PhD student in same the department. Her research interests are in the field of information systems, software engineering, Human-computer Interaction, visualization, virtual laboratories, software testing, engineering education, web development, internet programming languages.